1 Introduction

Finances of this venture would be exciting to do. Initially it would be very minimal as we need to gain popularity. Business finance is one of the functional areas of business, along with marketing, management, human resources, information technology, and production management. It is one of the most important functional areas because finance is essentially the lifeblood of businesses. The finance function, which is related to accounting, is responsible for pumping money to the other operational areas of the business. Financing has different parts like-

- Budgeting
- Financial Analysis
- Investments
- Saving
- Borrowing
